FOR DRY LAW ONLY A JOKE OF WET

Bruce of Maryland Laughs Over Trick-Conferees Expected to Throw Out Extra Appropriation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 .- Without a word of debate the Senate yesterday boosted the appropriation proposed for prohibi forcement next year from $13,500 .-000 to $270,627,384—the highest figure ever suggested. The increase, owever, still must be approved in he House where repeated efforts to provide such a large sum have met with failure.

The move to increase the allot-nent was made by Senator Bruce (Dem.) of Maryland, one of the wet leaders in Congress, who procosed the more than quarter-bil-ion-dollar addition as an amendment to the Treasury-Postoffice supply bill after the Senate once had passed the measure.

The Senator got his amendment in by asking for reconsideration of the bill and then things moved so swiftly that it apparently was not until some time later that the Senate realized what had occurred. Declaring the appropriation ould wreck the Government's fiscal program, leaders immediately lead plans to kill the increase when he bill is considered in conference with the House.

"Let's Enforce It Right." Unable to explain his amend-nent because of the rush with which it went through, Senator Bruce later, when off the floor, said, "If we can't repeal the dry act, let's enforce it right." He said he had suggested the increase be-cause Commissioner Doran of the Prohibition Bureau had declared recently that it would take $300,-000,000 to enforce the law. To support this increase for enforcement work, the Maryland Senator said he now proposed to prepare a bill authorizing enough new Federal courts to "cover the land and take care of the enormous increase in business which seems in prospect." Senator Bruce laughed when his amendment was declared approved and the bill immediately thereafter declared passed. He was off the floor when the Treasury bill first was passed. Returning, he asked reconsideration. Chairman Warren of the Appropriations Committee objected but at the request of Senator King, (Dem.) of Utah, he yielded.

The amendment by Bruce merertain line on a certain page of the bill be changed was read by a enate clerk. Senator Moses, (Rep.) of New Hampshire, the presiding fficer, declared it adopted with out waiting even for the Marylandto explain his amendment.

Expected to Be Eliminated.

As Bruce laughed, Chairman Warren turned to the amendment, ead it over and then laughed himself. He showed other members on the floor what they had just ac-cepted. They were confident that the conferees of the Senate and House would not accept the enor-ous increase.

Otherwise there was no eration of prohibition for which funds were carried by the billion. dollar measure. Nor was there any discussion, whatever. The principal discussion of the bill had revolved about proposals to increase the salaries of Under Secretary Mills of the Treasury and Director Lord of the budget from $10,000 to $12. lrawn in the face of opposition. The bill, which also carries funds for the Postoffice Depart-ment is the first of the nine regu-

Would Make Capital Dry.
Material revision of District of columbia laws to give police greatr authority to enforce prohibition n the capital is being considered by a House subcommittee. A re-port by Commissioner Doran that 3000 persons in Washington were engaged in the illicit liquor traffic as stirred committee members and Chairman Gisbon had Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police, before that body yesterday to relar measures to go through both the Senate and House. It will be port on conditions. The superintendent and other police officers recommended that all members of the force have authority to make arrests for viola tion of the prohibition law and also suggested that legislation to make it a felony to purchase liquor as well as to transport it would be effective. Representative Gilbert (Dem.) of Kentucky, frowned upon this latter proposal, however, declaring it would make convicon more difficult.

Bill Introduced in House Would Make Available to Surgeon General at Once.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.-A bil was introduced yesterday in Con gress to appropriate $25,000,000 to combat the influenza epidemic. It would make the money available immediately to the surgeon gen-

Responses from requests for information on the present outbreak have been brief, bringing only the nformation that the cases seem milder than in the 1918 epidemic nd that the symptoms are less

The requests were made by a poard named by Surgeon General Cumming and were sent to physicians on the West Coast. In addition, the board, composed of three physicians of the Public Health Service, has made public hrough the surgeon general, a program of precaution. It urges colation of recognized and suspected cases; avoiding contact with crowds and treatment of cases at home rather than in hospitals. At the same time it was said that the hope of preventing the spread of the disease was an

One school that has not been osed is the University of Oklaoma at Norman, although influza cases have been reported Demands for admittance to the infirmary grew to such prortions in such a short time that apparently the university authorities, instead of becoming fright-ened, grew suspicious. They passed a rule that all who said they had influenza must be examined before being admitted to the infirmary mmediately, reports from Norman state, the coughs diminished sharp-ly and it is thought the school will go on until its regular closing period for the holidays.

Surgeon-General Cumming re-ceived today a cablegram from the League of Nations asking for details of the influenza situation. Word reached here of schools in various sections being dismissed a week early for the regu-lar Christmas holiday, as a precaution to minimize spread of the infection. This was in line with directions issued by the Surgeondenger of influenze. Eleven in number, these were uniformly simple and the first was "Avoid needless crowding." Eleven Rules for Health. The rules were issued by the Surgeon-General after a conference with his board of strategy dealing with the epidemic. The board's recommendations were not nade public but it was made known that these formed the basis of the rules which follow: 1. Avoid needless crowding.

Walk to work when possible. Take advantage of sunshine 3. Sleep with windows open. 4. Avoid people who are coughing, sneezing and snuffling. 5. Wash your hands before eating, and do not put your fingers in your mouth.

6. Do not use napkins, towles, spoons, forks, knives and drinking cups unless they are clean 7. Use plenty of clean water, both inside and outside. Eat wholesome food. Sleep at least seven hours. 8. Keep away from house with influenza. 9. Avoid undue chilling of the ody.

BOY, 7, ALONE, ENJOYS 2400-MILE BUS TRIP

Lad, From Los Angeles for .Chicago, Eats Fill of Good

Things on Stopover Here From: District Traffic Manager. To: All drivers and agents ca-

Subject: In transit, Barton Huber, Los Angeles to Chicago. The bearer of this letter, Master Barton Huber, is en route to Chicago unaccompanied. Will you please see that he is transferred to connecting drivers and at such points where stopovers are made for meals have the agent on duty see that he is taken care of. He will start from here with $10 in cash to cover the cost of meals. Kindly pay for his meals out of this and return the change to him each tim He will be met upon arrival at Chicago by his brother.

Master Barton, the lively 7-yearold subject of this communication entertained employes and passengers at Union Market Bus Terninal here all day yesterday, while awaiting the bus for the last leg of his 2400-mile journey. He had $8.75, a ready smile, one suitcase and an insatiable but somewhat discriminating appetite. That is to say, he liked ice cream cones a ittle better than the oranges, apples, sandwiches, frankfurters, milk and candy with which station attaches, traveling sailor kind ladies and others plied him. Romps With the Men.

He was seated on a pile runks romping with a group of men when a reporter and photographer called in the middle of the afternoon. A "hot dog" was disappearing rapidly down his throat.
"Aren't you afraid you'll get sick eating so much?" he was asked. "Naw," said Master Baron, "I'm hungry."

The succession of bus drivers of the Pickwick Stage System took charge of his $25 ticket, money and baggage, passing along an ac-count. He left Los Angeles last Saturday morning, six days are, reaching here at 10 a. m. yesterday. The drivers' scrawled report was his diary: "Los Angeles to El Centro, Cal., nothing spent. El Centro to Phoenix, Ariz., nothing spent. Phoenix to Safford. Ariz., 0 cents spent. Safford to El Paso. Tex., 45 cents spent. El Paso to Roswell, N. M., had a nice breakfast, nothing spent. Roswell to Amarillo, Tex., nothing spent. Amarillo to Oklahoma City, noth-

Amarilio to Oklahoma City, nothing spent. Oklahoma City to St.
Louis, 60 centa spent."

However, said C. A. Howell, dispatcher here, it would be a mistake to infer that Barton wenthungry "en route," as the traffic manager would say, thanks to travillize company. eling companions. Nor did he lack for rest. Four nights he curled up under blankets on a seat beside the driver and one night a bus chauf-feur bunked him at an El Paso hotel.

Gets His Ears Scrubbed. Too.

GOLDEN SHELL, DIL CONCERN'S $70,000 PLANE, CHRISTENED

The "Golden Shell." a trl-motored Fokker monoplane owned by the Shell Petroleum Corporation. was christened at Lambert-St. Louis Field yesterday at a ceremony at-tended by city officials and officers of the oil company. It is to be used by executives of the company for business trips.

The huge plane, which cost, $70,000, was christened by Joan Daly, 6-year-old daughter of U. de B. Daly, president of the Shell company. The ship is powered with three Wasp engines of 410 horse-power each, has a wing spread of 71 feet, 6 inches, and its normal cruising speed is 125 miles an hour. The cabin, which will ac-commodate 10 passengers, is luxuriously fitted, furnishings includ-ing writing table, magazine make and settee. Milt Girton, veteran Lambert Field flyer, is the pilot-Girton flew the ship here from the Fokker factory in New Jersey, arriving Wednesday. The plane is painted a bright yellow with red

By CHARLES G. ROSS. of the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON. Dec. 14.-The railroad view of the valuation is sue is comprehentively set out in a brief filed yesterday in the United States Supreme Court by attorneys for the St. Louis & O'Failon Railway Co. and the Manufactuers' Railway Co. in their appear ers' Railway Co. in their appeal from a decision of a special threeJudge Federaf Court in Missouri.

Frederick '4. Wood, Robert H. Kelley, Lesile Craven and Daniel
N. Kirby are named on the brief as attorneys for the two railways, and Charles Nagel as counsel. Argu-

The decision which is being attacked is that of a court consisting of Circuit Judges Stone and Van Valkenburgh and - District Judge Faris, who sustained, in large part an order of the Interstate Con merce Commission in "ecapture proceedings under the transportaterest because of the underlying properties shall be valued for rat aking purposes. "an arbitrary standard of its own of no relevant facts and in complete and deliberate disregard of the prior decisions of this court."

Basis for Rate-Making. 'This court," said the brief, " epeatedly held that present values not synonymous with origina cost, nor is it a matter of mathematical formula, but must be determined by a consideration of all relevant facts and circumstances."

There is then cited a list of cases including the contraction of the cases including the Southwestern Bell and Indianapolis water cases. "Instead of undertaking to de-termine the present value of the carrier's property in accordan-with these decisions," the bri continues, "the commission's find-ings of value are based on a math-ematical formula, the primar pur-pose of which was to determine the amount of investment in the carrier's property. "Under the pric: decisions of this court cost of reproduction at current prices is a relevant fact to be considered. This court has nev-er held that value and cost of re-production. less depreciation, if Disregarded Prior Becisions. "In the majority of cases decided by this court it is of all relevant facts that which has been accorded the greatest weight. In rejecting it, as a relevant fact entitled to no consideration whatsoever, as it ever, as it did, the commission failed to follow the prior decision of this court. If, on the contrary, it had determined the value of this property by a consideration of all relevant facts and circumstances, including as one its cost of reproduction at current prices, the value found found must have been substanti-

"The major portion of the carrier's property was valued at an amount assumed to represent the approximate investment therein, in the absence of reliable information as to original cost. The order was thus predicated when the assume as to original cost. The order was thus predicated upon the assumption that such approximate investment could be determined by use of the formula employed. This assumption was wholly without any support whatever in the record. On the contrary, approximate investment could not be ascertained by the use of such formula. The commission's determination of approximate investment was, therefore, as arbitrary and artificial as its determination of value."

"Arbitrary Standard Set Up."
Instead of setting up its own arbitrary standard," the brief asaroltrary standard," the brief asberts, the commission should have been guided by "the flexible and astional rule of Smyth vs. Ames."
The brief declares that the "inrestment" theory of valuation is unsound both in law and economcs" and that the court can only ustain it by overruling previous

Anglo-American Relations

There is no cause for dispute between England and the United States, no conflicting interests except peaceful commercial ones and no desire to seize each other's possessions; the fly in the ointment is England's entanglement in a European entente, which interferes with perfect co-operation between England and the United States.

From the Manchester Guardian.

OT for many years have the Americans and the British been on terms as bad as they are now. There is ill-feeling, suspicion, misunderstanding and estrangement between the two nations. And yet, as Viscount Lee of Fareham said, there is "no existing or likely cause for dispute between them," there are "no unsolved frontier questions," there are "no conflicting interests except possibly in the peaceful sphere of commerce," and there is "no desire to seize each other's possessions." Much has been said about the possibility of an Anglo-American war. To some it appears un-thinkable, to others thinkable, and to others inevitable. The latter is a crude, pseudo-

Marxian view and hardly worth refuting. But why should an Anglo-American was be as much as thinkable? Commercial and colonial rivalry is no reason. Even the in-tense economic rivalry between the British and the German Empires was not the cause of the Great War: indeed, almost all the economic differences between the two Empires were as good as settled, or adjusted, when the Great War began. There is keen competition between England and the United States on the Latin-American markets, there are differences in so-called "oil policy." It has in the last few years, been fashionable, to interpret all world politics in terms of oil and to prophesy an Anglo-American "oil war"-a more foolish and. let us hope, a more fleeting fashion could not well be imagined. All these differences create no problem that could be solved by war. Nor do British and American colonial policies clash. The Imperialist idea is dead. British Imperialist expansion has ceased. What little Imperialism there is in America has ample field in its own continent. American Im perialism in the Old World and British Imperialism in the New are alike unthinkable There is only one possibility fo an Anglo American conflict, and that is in a war with other Powers. Great Britain's chief offensive weapon is the right of blockade.

That right, asserted against the will of America, could conceivably cause a rupture between the two nations, though hardly a war. But a new interpretation of the "free dom of the seas" adapted to both British and American interests and ideals is possible, and should be one of the supreme and immediate aims of British and American foreign policies. Once this aim has been achieved, then even a rupture, and still more a war, between the two hations will indeed be unthinkable.

But it is not the remote possibility of a rupture that makes the present state of Anglo-American relations immediately calamitous. "There is no part of the world," said Viscount Lee of Faycham, "in which our co-operation should not be faorable to peace and in the interest of civilization." This, co-operation, necessary to both countries, necessary to the world, has been suspended. What is the reason? Mistakes have been made on both sides. Admirals have said too much, statesmen too little. Clemenceau was right when he said that war is too serious an affair for Generals. But this is true of peace far more than of war. If the Governments allow any General or Admiral to act one hair's-breadth outside his professional competence, if they allow themselves to be influenced by strategy rather than by statesmanship, they are preparing not for peace but for war. may be that there are British and American Admirals who would like a fight. If so, it is for the Governments to make them keep such mischievous ideas to themselves.

. . . Anglo-American naval parity has been accepted, and nothing that the Admiralties an think, say or do should be allowed to circumvent this parity. If, within the framework of a broad and general parity, the one obtains an arithmetical advantage over the other, it does not matter at all The Americans are not trying to outbuild the British, but if they show a preference for a certain type of vessel, and even if the British Admiralty thinks that when this preference has been granted the American fleet will be stronger than the British, it does not matter, for the problem is, or should be, dominated by deeper and wide considerations than usually enter the heads of the Admiralties.

But there is a further source of Anglo-American estrangement. It is what Viscount Lee of Fareham calls the "ignis fatuus"-the will-o'-the-wisp-of ententes and alliances. And in this case the mis-chief has been done on this side of the Atlantic, and again largely because the simplicities of strategy are so much more con venient and alluring than the complexities of statesmanship. Viscount Lee of Fareham is perfectly right when he says that Great Britain is European but not Continental, a neighbor of Continental nations, but not one of their family. Nevertheless she has associated herself with one of the Continental Powers. She is entangled in the fine and barely visible but clinging and tenacious web of an entente. The effects are already apparent. Not that the danger of an Anglo-American war has arisen, but Angle-American co-operation has been suspended and the fires in the forges and armories that were creating the world's peace have died down.

To establish peace is more than to avoid war. It is an evolutionary, creative act that cannot be accomplished save under strong and united leadership. Great Britain with America is alone capable of giving this leadership, and by British and American ce-operation the world's peace lives or dies. There is a profound symbolical truth in a story told by Viscount Lee of Farcham of the Spanish-American war, when the German Admiral asked the commander of the British squadron, "What will you do if the Americans open fire?" and the reply was. "Only Admiral Dewey and I know that." If today any Continental Power were to ask Great Britain, "What about naval disarmament?" and if the answer "Only the White House and Downing Street know that" were given until whatever Anglo-American "naval compremise" were ready for the consideration of the other Powers, the forward march of universal peace would be irresist-big table to go through and mar at, is the foundation establis not only 50 years ago when the first paper was issued, but inhe ently what was in the founder and what gave birth to his idea about the future of newspaper work in this country. Things don't just happen in this country-opportunity doesn't come down from above -the big things that we have, the significant things that have be done come out of the individual ef-fort of somebody who really has something with which to make at enterprise as we look at today's newspaper business.

Therefore, the 50 years that you have grown to world prominence is something that is even greater than the mere fact that today we have such wonderful facilities for gathering news and printing it for the benefit of the fireside: and the fundamentals u derneath may easily be overlooke but to me it merely emphasizes that many times the public skims along the surface of things it is interested in and fails to comprehend why a thing is good.

CANTON. O., Dec. 14.—Mrs. rgaret Heldman, 21 years old. fessed murderer of Vernard E. arn, 35, Waco (O.) coal dealer. same pistol she used to "zet with Fearn.

he young woman's husband, W. Heldman, was accompanying her m their home at Lorain to the ce of Sheriff Edward Gibson when she took her life. She ad confessed everything to her sband and had agreed to surnder herself. Chance disclosed her illicit ac-aintanceship with Fearn during last few months. Heldman ir home yesterday a crumpled ide note she had written sevdays ago and then discarded. fronted with its contents, she mitted she was the comely young oman slayer for whom a wide irch was being made.

dman yelled at her. They got in their car and started r Canton, where they formerly ad lived. On the long trip Mrs. eldman told her husband Fearn had pursued her and made her life "hell on earth."

Says Coal Man Attacked Her. As she was driving into the city its with her husband, Mrs. Heldan pressed her pistol to her ast and pulled the trigger. The illet pierced her left lung. Heldman, hysterical, hurried to ne Sheriff's office in Canton, Gibson climbed into their car and rushed the mortally wounded oman to Mercy Hospital a mile There she died shortly afterward but before she breathed her last she gasped out: "He attacked me and broke up our home."

Mrs. Heldman met Fearn at a oadhouse dance. She became in-imate with him, her husband reted but he said he did not linew had carried on a love affair. Last October the Heldmans red to Loraine. Her hate for Fearn growing with the weeks, Mrs. Heldman came to Canton on Dec. 3. She paid a visit to her sister. Mrs. Roy N. Pierce, here. There she made her headquarters

ASSOCIATION TO DISCUSS SPRING BOULEVARD PROJECT

feeting to Be Held Tuesday to Prelic Service Board. The Spring Boulevard Associa-tion, an organization for the estab-

ment of Spring avenue as a cross-town boulevard, will meet Tuesday night at Sheldon Memorial to discuss the plan and to prepare for a public hearing next Friday before the Board of Public Service on the project. The Board of Public Service now has before it the City Plan Commission's proposal for the opening of a new traffic relief boulevard 45 w feet west of Grand boulevardextending from Page boulevard to Forest Park place, and ultimately to be carried across the Mill Creek Valley on a viaduct.

The Spring Boulevard Association, as the Washington Boulevard Association, contends this plan would be more expensive than the straightening and widening of Spring avenue, and would less efficiently serve the purpose of relieving traffic on Grand boulevard.

Officers of the Spring Boulevard Association are: Preston J. Bra 1shaw, owner of the Ceronado Hotel, president; Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, vice president; Paul Laidley, broker, secretary, and A. M. Grosshein, auditor of the Coronado, treasurer.

1½ cups milk, 1½ tsp. flavoring, 5 egg whites.

METHOD: 1. Cream shortening and add sugar gradually. 2. Sift flour once before measuring. 3. Mix and sift flour, sait and baking powder, and add alternately with milk. 4. Add flavoring—vanilla and almond together are good. 5. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. 6. Pour into well greased and floured pans and bake. TIME: Bake 30 mfautes. TEMPERATURE: 550° F., moderate oven. SIZE OF PAN. Two 9-inch layer pans or three 7-inch layer pans. AMOUNT: 16 servings. Comfort leings 2½ cups sugar, ¼ cup white corn syrup, ½ cup water, 2 egg whites, 1½ tsp. vanilla. METHOD: 1. Mix together sugar, corn syrup, and water. 2. Boil without stirring. Remove crystals from around pan during boiling process by means of a wet cloth. Cook until first indication of a thread appears, 234° F. 3. Pour the hot syrup slowly over stiffly beaten egg whites, beating with egg beater during addition. 4. Add vanilla and continue beating with a spoon until mixture will hold its shape (about 10 minutes). S. If mixture does not set so that it will stay on cake, add 2 or 3 tablespoons of powdered sugar, a tablespoon at a time until mixture is stiff enough. Norm: Part of icing may be colored pink with vegetable coloring matter and used on sides of cake with white icing on top and between layers. Pink candles to match sides can be placed on top of cake for birthday party.

Almonds, Peanuts, Pecans, Brazil Nuts Easily Salted in Home Kitchen.

It is not difficult to salt nuts at home. The most tedious part is the need for recipes for the blanching, which must always and varieties of stuffing be done. This consists in scalding try and meats. To begin or heating the shelled nuts so that ipe for bread stuffing is the brown skin can be rubbed off.

Bread Stuffing The easiest way to do this is to cover the nuts with boiling water bread, four tablespon and let them stand for five min-utes, or to cover them with cold onion, one-third team water, heat them to the boiling sage, thyme, sweet ; point and let them boil for one one and one-half tea minute. Drain, cool until they can Toss all lightly to be comfortably handled, and then lightly, do not pack in pinch or peel off the skins. Almonds, wainuts, pecans, Brazil toothpics and tie tail secure nuts, peanuts (unroasted) may all long string and fasten to drumsticks.

be easily salted at home. They Must Be Dried. After blanching dry the nuts either by patting them with a owel or, better, by spreading them a shallow pan and letting them stand for an hour or so. Or else tablespoons pimientos dry them in a very slow oven. The next step is the salting. This may be done in either of two ways. First, to each cup of blanched nuts add one to two teaspoons of olive oil or salad oil and one-half one teaspoon of salt. Stir these in a bowl until the nuts are well greased. Then spread them in a shallow pan and roast them in a low oven-300 degrees-for ten to 15 minutes or slightly brown.

The second way is called pan salting and consists of cooking the nuts in hot fat in a shallow pan. then draining them and sprinkling with salt. The fat must be heated until it is hot enough to brown the nuts in about a minute.

Wire Basket Helps. It is best to put the nuts all in wire basket and lower them into the fat. If they are loose it is dificult to get them all out at the same time and even a few seconds over cooking browns them to the point of being bitter.

Perfect salted nuts are a delicate own in color, are crisp, leave no grease on the fingers and are lightly covered with salt. They will eep for some time when properly salted, and are delicious as a conection, or when chopped and added to salads, especially fruit, or or other fillings for sandwiches.

The First Airplane Flight

Described by the Man Who Made It—In the Sunday Post-Dispatch

December 17th, twenty-five years ago, aviation history was made. On that epochal day the first heavier-than-air, self propelled machine rose falteringly from the sands of Kitty Hawk, North Carolina....dipped and lurched like a befuddled bird for a distance of 120 feet....bumped to the ground again!

Lying flat on his stomach, manipulating the balky controls and balancing the crude craft, Orville Wright piloted the first airplane on its first flight.

> And now twenty-five years later, he has told the story of those historic days to Clair Kenamore of the Post-Dispatch Staff exclusively for Post-Dispatch Readers.

Simply but graphically Mr. Wright tells how it felt to be the first man to fly....describes the endless experiments, the trials and disappointments, the hundreds of glider flights made by his brother, the late Wilbur Wright, and himself before they finally achieved man's life-long dream of mastery over the air.

Besides this great story of the first aviator, in the Editorial Section, there will be a large actual photograph of the first airplane flight, pictures of the Wright brothers, and other pictures of their early flying experiments on the first page of the Rotogravure Section of Sunday's Post-Dispatch.

FREAS BLACKENS SPARRING MATE'S EYE IN WORKOUT

By Damon Kerby.

Apparently in fair fighting trim, Billy Freas of Grand Rapids, Mich., the opponent of Young Stribling here next Tuesday night on the Coliseum fight program, exhibited a sharp left jab in his first workout here yesterday afternoon.

Freas' principal stock in trade is reputed to be a heavy right, with which he kayoed some 17 out of 31 opponents, according to the official records, including 1926, but the left was the weapon that attracted most attention yesterday.
Perhaps Hank Malloy of Boston

was more impressed than any other person present at the workout. Maloy is a young heavyweight who will meet Johnny Mack of Pittsbouts on the card, and he sparred or two rounds with Freas. ### He Filled the Treasury.

THE United States Lawn Ten-I is Association deferred action on Tilden's case until next year. But it is practically certain that, despite the fact that some leaders of the organization are unfriendly toward Big Bill, he will be restored to good standing in time for next summer's play.

Tilden's shortcomings, as picked on by the committee, have been piffling in comparison o his great work in tennis fields. The national body owes forgiveness for a few fractured technicalities, if only for the fact that he has swelled the association's treasury to its present opulence, almost single-handed.

About the Tip-off.

Graham was the leader in the "STRETCH" MURPHY, one of the tallest centers in the sketball world, will be on display at Washington University's field house, tomorrow night.

Altitude in centers has been esteemed indispensable, in some quarts. In fact, there are many who believe that the advantage of height in the "tip-off" play justifies revising the method of putting the ball in play.

During a game there are usually 25 or more occasions Bell, Graham, Baldock and when the tip-off play is emyear. Of these Francis was the ployed. That means there are vance. ### Soccer in Italy Gives $52,631 To the State

Ey the Associated Press. ROME, Dec. 14. S OCCER football, rated as a minor sport in most American colleges and not productive of big gate receipts in the professional field, has just netted the Italian State an unted profit of 1,000,000 lire. ($52,631), as a voluntary offering from the Italian Soccer Federation.

The 1928 season was so successful that the federation. after paying all its taxes and expenses, found that it had a large surplus. With the approval of the directing board, Sig. Leandro Arpinati, president of the federation, bought 1,000,000 lire worth of Governnt bonds out of his surplus and sent them to Premier Mussolini to be destroyed as the contribution of soccer football toward reducing the country's internal debt.

Alice Ben Bolt was a sweet gal without a college education. Annie Laurie had the male lizards curling up, in spite of the fact she was not an alumna. Cleopatra never sold tickets to the endowment fund but managed to strut in the best circles. And there you are.

Higher education was nonessen tial then, but today the cards run different. Alice, Annie and Cleo-patra never got married, so far as statistics state, but matrimony was a bush league pursuit in their day. Today, however, no girlie cops a million-dollar bridegroom unless she's waltzed through a prop school for frails or is enrolled in Zieg-feld's junior class.

However, passing entrance exams for Zieggy's boarding school is a matter of life and limb. If you have plenty of both, you're sitting school is even easier than that. Entrance exams are simple and refined, and easy to pass in spite of 14. Silly. fat ankles.

The higher mathematics course for frails develops a memory for telephone numbers. For no college gal is complete without a list of divan cooties, Oo-long hounds and parlor Reds. A dame that climbs the social grade should have a blond varsity guy for every night in the week, plus Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Telephone numbers are the answer to that problem. Even a wrong number may add to her list.

Children do, the results may be serious.

There isn't any use scolding the child to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, prefty hands and to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, prefty hands and the work they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little lee-Mint into the hands occasionally preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning would rather play with an old toy to which they have grown accustomed than a shiny new one.

Only two days before he had traveled down to Norwich in the third-class dining tar and fancied himself no end of a fellow. This afternoon the hard seats, the noisy service suddenly grated upon sensibilities, new-born indeed, but which he told himself must have been all the time latent. He made his way back to the dignified isolation of his first-class carriage and made another effort at connected thought. What should he do—travel, go in for country life, carry out one of his earlier ambitions and qualify for one of the counties at cricket, perhaps learn to shoot and ride? Or, should he have a little flat in London, buy all the books he cared to, sit in the stalls at the theaters, frequent the well-known supper places? cari, N. M., He Tosses Gifts From Rear Platform.

By the Associated Press. PRATT, Kan., Dec. 14. - Santa Claus travels by rail instead of sleigh from here to Tucumcari, N.

Every year I. M. Burton, one of the oldest conductors on the Rock Island Railroad, selects a day just before Christmas for appearing be fore his passengers in the garb of old St. Nicholas instead of the uni-form he ordinarily wears.

He plays Santa's role not for the passengers, but for the children who live in the towns and on the farms along the railroad through Southwestern Kansas, Western Oklahoma, Northern Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Slips of paper are dropped by the conductor from the car window early in December. The notes are addressed to all children who love Santa Claus, telling them on what day they may expect to see him on the rear platform.

The word spreads to all homes the towns and to the farms on both sides of the railroad. On the ppointed day, train No. 1 is met by eager youngsters. The children gather not only at the stations where the fast flyer makes regular stops, but also along the right of ray in the country.

From the rear platform Santa hrows boxes filled with candy, ruits and nuts. Barton himself provides the fifts. Occasionally he throws off he train a toy entrusted to him for delivery to a certain child whose place of waiting for Santa Claus is arranged in advance.

Barton has been employed by the Rock Island for 41 years. His home is in Pratt.

> Rink Proprietor Didn't Think Trombone Player Was Worth the Money.

by the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 14.-Robert H. Davis tells in a copyrighted story in the Sun of a skating rink proprietor who discharged a trombone player and so turned the aspiring musician into paths that led to the presidency of the United

When the roller skating craze wept over the country in the early 80s, a young Italian named Pete Venuti opened a rink in Marion, O., and installed an orchestra of eight pieces.

The trombone player demanded an increase of salary. He was getting 50 cents a night and felt me was worth 75.

"Why should I pay him 75 cents for his kind of slip music?" Venuti asked his orchestra leader. "It was the first him. Do it isn't worth 50. Fire him. Do it

And so the trombone player was fired. The roller skating craze passed in due time. Venuti joined the gold rush and married a girl in the Klondyke and reared a fam-

Nearly 5000 Applications Received So Far and $25,-000 Is Needed to Take Care of All of Them.

PATHETIC LETTERS FROM CHILDREN

Last Hour for Making Requests for Baskets to 5:30 O'clock Next Saturday Evening.

A check for $100 received yes terday is the second important donation to reach the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Committee to finance its city-wide Christmacelebration. This came from Mrs. Newton R. Wilson, and like the $500 from the Post-Dispatch with which the fund was started this year, is an annual gift. The total for the year, as reported by the treasurer, Ben H. Lang, last night, was $738.75, not even one-twentyfifth of the necessary $25,000.

Applications for baskets now umber close to 5000, according to the sub-committee in charge of that part of the work. The time for raceiving these requests ends Saturday afternoon, and the basket committee, expecting a rush toward the last, is making every possible preparation to handle it. This committee has announced that no requests of any kind will be considered after 5:30 p. m. on Saturday Dec. 15, because then supplies will have to be purchased and baske's packed for distribution on Christmas eve. Louis Nolte, chairman of the purchasing committee, has been busy all week getting bids on the various articles to be placed f the baskets, and will give the oders as soon as he knows how many baskets are to be filled. Last year nearly half the requests received could not be granted for lack of funds. This year the hope is that not a single worthy person in the city will be left out. Those working on the request for baskets are especially anxious to have a large fund this year. The appeals made are so urge t and the wish for just a tiny bit of Christmas happiness so pathetic that the young women who are engaged in receiving and listing the applications find their sympathies keenly aroused. Some of the Letters "I wish I could give $100 to thi fund," said one of them yester-Just listen to this: years old. My mother is ou of work. There is no mystery about this remedy for the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and nervousness Its amazing success is founded on just one outstanding quality—merit. Konjola is made to make good, and Konjola is made to make good, and does it. How this super-remedy triumphs when all else tried has failed; how it brings new and abundant health in place of sickness and suffering, is being explained by the Konjola Man, who may be seen daily at the Walgreen drug store, 515 Olive street, St. Louis. Those who suffer and who would be well again; those who are weary of a again; those who are weary of a futile search for health are urged to meet the Konjola Man. But do not expect promises nor claims; rather, expect promises nor claims, rather, expect to learn what this remarkable medicine is doing. After all, deeds, results are what count. Konjola is a medicine of deeds, not words. As an illustration, take the interesting experience of Mrs. William Hill, 1804 South Broadway, St. Louis. Picture her happiness as she made this statement to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

I had stomach, intestinal and kidney troubles, and despite untiring efforts and the expenditure of many dollars to find relief, I found none, and grew worse instead of better. My food did not digest, but lay like a sodden mass in my stomach, forming gas. Not only was the pain after every meal intense, but I gained little strength from what little food I could take. My kidneys caused me acute pains across the back and compelled me to get up back and compelled me to get up many times at night. Constipation contributed to my miseries, and filled my system with poisons. Naturally, I became run down, weak and exhausted, and then there was the worry over failure after failure of everything I tried. "I read about Konjola, and the indorsements were so sincere, so en-thusiastic, that I wondered if it would help me as it had others. I decided to make the test, though I decided to make the test, though I had about lost faith in all medicines. But what a surprise was in store for me! Just as I was told it would, Konjola went to the very seat, the very source of my ailments. My stomach, kidneys and bowels were cleansed and stimulated; the poisons were swept from my system, and I began to feel the glow of returning strength and health. At last my long search for relief was rewarded by this wonderful Konjola. Today I am a new woman physically, and my am a new woman physically, and my mind, now in a healthy body, is free from worries. Konjola did all this in just three weeks. I read that

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.-Forty-ree thousand more deaths in the nited States during 1928 than uring 1927, as a result of an in eased mortality rate, are indiated by a nation-wide survey of urrent health conditions presentd to the Twenty-second Annual ife Insurance Presidents here to lay by Gerard S. Nollen, president the Bankers Life Co. of Des Basing his statements upon th auses of deaths among 42,430,000 dult and infant life insurance polcyholders of 52 United States com-panies, Nollen pointed out that onia, heart disease, influena, apoplexy, cancer, measles, mengitis, suicide and the automobile aused increases, while tuberculoris, Bright's disease, typhoid fever, diarrhea and enteritis, whooping ough, diphtheria, puerperal state, omicide and scarlet fever showed lecreases in the rates of death for he year, as compared with 1927.

"While the death rate from auobile accidents this year shows ne smallest increase for any of the last five years, one-tenth per-son per 100,000, the rate is, nevertheless, the highest for the five-year period, being 18.2 persons as compared with 15.4 persons in 1924," stated Nollen. "Taking inconsideration the increase of opulation during 1928, it is estimated that the automobile will probably be the cause of the death of 25,800 persons during this year, This includes not only accidents involving solely automobiles on the highways, but also deaths resulting from collisions of automobiles with trains and street cars. During the five years including 1924 and 1928, 115,600 persons will have met their deaths as a result of automobile accidents and this does not take into consideration the other hundreds of thousands ho were maimed."

Returning to the consideration f the general mortality situation n the United States, Nollen said: "The statistics presented show that the general death rate for 1928 will be considerably higher han that for 1927 and that it will be higher than for any of the past ive years, except 1926, when the rate was unusually high. If the leath rates for 1927 and 1928 are combined, the average will be less combined, the average will be less than the average for the last five years, including 1928.

"The survey shows a general death rate among life insurance policyholders of 858.6 per 100,000 persons for 1928, as contrasted with 822.5 for 1927. This experi-ence covers 299,509 deaths among 42,430,000 ordinary and industrial policyholders scattered through-out the entire United States, and indicates that out of every 100,000 persons, death will this year claim 36 more persons than it did in 1927. It is fair to state, however, that 1927 was one of the healthlest years ever experienced in this country. Combining the death rate for the two years 1927 and 1928, we find the average to be $40.9 per 100,000, as contrasted with the average death rate for the five-year period of $49.2 per 100,-000. While the average for the 190. with the five-year average, it should be remembered that the death rate for this year is, with the exception of 1926, when it was 878.1 per 100,000, the highest death rate among life insurance policyholders, as revealed by the association surveys, since 1923.
These are aggregate death rates, including both infant and adult

"When we separate the causes of death into those peculiar to childhood and contrast them with the death rate representing mainly adult diseases, we find a striking contrast in favor of the children. Very substantial progress has been made in reducing the death rate from children's diseases which, in 1928, was only 33.4 per 100.000, as contrasted with 44.2 in 1924 and an average for the five-year period, including 1924 and 1928, of 38.6 per 100,000. On the contrary, the death rate from adult diseases was 825.2 in 1928, as compared with 806.5 per 100,000 in 1924 and an average for the period of 810.6. In only two of the past five years has the adult death rate been low has the adult death rate been low-er than it was at the beginning of the period. In each of the past four years the death rate from children's diseases has been lower than at the beginning of the five-year period, and in only two of the five years has there been an increase, as compared with the previous year, in the death rate from children's diseases. In other words this five-year period shows further substantial progress in reducing the death rate from children's diseases, an improvement unques-tionably due to the effectiveness of the campaign which has been arried on to save the lives of

"Of the 21 major causes of death listed, 10 showed decreases totalling 7.5 per 100,000 persons, while 11 showed increases of 48.6, making the net increase in the death rate of 36.1 per 100,000. The principal causes of death showing decreases are tuberculosis, Bright's disease, typhoid fever, diarrhea and enteritis, whooping cough, diptheria, puerperal state, homicides and scarlet fever. Those showing increases-and it is to be snowing increases—and it is to be noted that these increases are nearly six times the decreases—include pneumonia, organic diseases of the heart, influenza, cerebral hemorrhage, cancer, measles, menngitis, suicide and automob cidents. Tuberculosis again registered a favorable trend, and we are told by those competent to death. With more universal applithis cause can still be materially reduced within a very few years, control as time goes on."

Young Singers Arrive Unprepared or Fall in With Dishonest Teachers.

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN, Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World,

PARIS, Nov. 28 .- To fully 50 er cent of the host of American boys and girls who land in Paris annually expecting to be well on the way to an operatic or artistic career, Montparnasse becomes the graveyard of their hopes and ambitions. Literally thousands are walking the streets of the Latin Quarter broken in spirit and in health, their fondest illusions shat-

This fact, common knowledge to American consular authorities in France and to the many benevolent aid societies as well as to American residents in Pars, was tartlingly emphasized by Misse Hallie Stiles, a young New York singer who has just achieved a phenomenal success with her singing at the Opera Comique.

MULTIPLIES SPECIES WITHOUT MATING

Tiny Single-Cell Animal Has Thrived 21 Years by Repeated Dividing.

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 14.—
The so-called "creatures that never grow old," at the Osborn Zoological Laboratory, Yale University, this month are entering the middle of the twenty-first year of what is probably the most remarkable scientific demonstration ever made of the power of life to

They are a dozen tiny, singlecelled animals that live in drops of beef extract on glass slides, on a

They have proved that in their case at least life can continue and the race multiply, without the cycles of mating and old age. Before this experiment the necessity of mating to continue life had been considered universal in nature.

Mating Does Not Occur.

Twenty-one years ago Dr. Lo-rande L. Woodruff, professor of protozoology at Yale, took from common ditch water a single-cel enimal named Paramecium, which reproduces about once a day by di mals. Mating had been an apparnecessity with these animals But each day when the paramecius Woodruff removed one animal, so that mating never occurred. There are now more than 13,000 generations from this parent parainecium. That many generations in human beings, would require clapse of many thousand years. through so many generations, with unimpaired vitality, without aid of fertilization, Prof. Woodruff says, shows the inherent power o living matter to continue life. An idea of this power appears in atical ealculations showing that if food could have been supplied to keep them all alive thes animals alone long ago would have

Mating Speeds Up Raic.
The resarch indicates the tremendous effectiveness of means wherby nature prevents such life forces from multiplying out of proportion. Tests showed that though fertilization is not a primary attribute of reproduction, mating speeds up the rate.

mating speeds up the rate.

Prof. Woodruff long ago closed his proof that fertilization was not needed to prevent senile decay, but keeps the line of paramecia partly because scientists all over the United States, and in Europe, send to Yale for specimens of these pedigreed animals.

Seen through a microscope as it swims in the crystal clear laboratory liquid, a paramecium almost exactly resembles a blimp, and its progress is suggestive of a blimp buffeted by winds which frequently turn it over completely.

sponsibility Would Make Too Many Enemies, He Says at Luncheon.

Mayor Miller does not want the esponsibility of selecting the memof the Board of Education, he old the South Side Lions' Club at luncheon at Bevo Mill yesterday, mmenting on the recent suggesn of Election Commissioner Fahey that school board members be appointed by the Mayor instead of "The Mayor is expected to do everything from entertaining everything from entertaining Queen Marie of Rumania to seeing that garbage isn't collected so early that the rattling of cans wakes peoe up," he declared. "If I were sked to appoint the members of

we figured it would save trouble appointing only four women on the Reception Committee. The next day a man called up and told I had insulted 60,000 women in he State by not appointing his Mayor Miller declared the city was handicapped by the fact that the maximum tax rate had not been increased since 1875. He pointed out that St. Louis spends $33 per capita for the maintenance of its municipal activities, whereas New York spends $57. He called attention to othe bond issue, particularly the new lighting system, as signs of progress, and declared the bonds had increased the tax rate only 7 cents on the $100 valuation, whereas it had been predicted that the increase would be 37 cents.

He suggested that the Lions' Club-indorse the recommendations of the Municipal Rapid Transit Survey Committee when they are made, and urged them to work for higher pay for members of the State Leg-islature, who have received $5 a day since 1875.

The club adopted a resolution faoring the changing of the name of Gardenville public school to Adolhus Busch School as a memorial o the brewer.
